Gradual hymn: If thou hast the skill to reckon ORIEL (Please stand, as able)

If thou hast the skill to reckon all the number of the blest, thou perchance canst weigh the gladness of the everlasting rest, which, their earthly exile finished, they forever have possessed.

Through the vale of lamentation safely passed for evermore, to the Saviour that redeemed them these redeemed ones praises pour;
and the Monarch that rewards them these rewarded saints adore.

O what splendour, O what beauty lightens round the happy place, where, amidst the blessed legions who have triumphed by his grace, stands the Lord's own Virgin Mother, gazing on her Saviour's face.

In that joy the angel cohorts and the saints that fill the skies, and the apostolic chorus, and the martyrs sympathize, and all saintly men and women bend on Christ adoring eyes.

In a glass, through types and shadows, dwelling here, we see alone;
then, serenely, purely, clearly, we shall know as we are known, fixing our enlightened vision on the glory of the throne.

There the Trinity of Persons unbecloved we shall see;
there the Unity of Essence perfectly revealed shall be,
while we hail the threefold Godhead and the simple Unity.
